

Death Certificate

Written by Matt (MIAGD)

Thursday, 16 December 2010 17:54 -

A death certificate is a document, usually provided by your funeral home director or by the state in which you reside, that states the deceased's personal information and cause of death. Cause of death is an important factor; it must be filled in on the certificate, or life insurance settlements and other processes could be delayed.